Gen. Wheaton, commander in the Philippines, is not only a good soldier bnt he is equipped with a stentorian voice by which he can make himself heard half a mile off without lossening his surcingle.

A case has just been decided in the New York courts in which twenty-four heirs squabbled over an estate which, after the cost of litigation was figured up, panned out $8. They got 33⅓ cents each, and a lot of experience.

Gen. Smith, of Chicago, gives the owners of sky scrapers in that town the cheerful information that the steel frames are rotting out. Perhaps the microbes have gone to feeding on them. They say there is a microbe which feeds on steel.

They say there is a college in Tennessee where the art of love making will be added to the usual curriculum. That kind of college training may be all right, but most people will think the old way good enough for all practical purposes.

They say lightning never hits twice in the same place, but it hits in many places, and hits lots of people too. A professor in the Washington weather bureau who has been keeping tab on it figures out that it hit and killed 713 persons in 1900 in this country, and injured 973 more. That's shocking.

Wickenburg, Arizona, comes to the front with the daisiest liar or the biggest gold find on record. It is a ledge 120 feet wide at its narrowest point, and carries from $40,000 to $50,000 a ton in gold, besides silver and copper. The original discoverers sold the tract two years ago to some Iowa capitalists for $6,000.

Major Gainsford, of Gen. Kitchener's staff, thinks more truth and less lying would help the situation in South Africa. He denounces the "cruel folly" of the British papers which hold out hopes that the war will be over by the time for the coronation. "We who know," he says, "realize that it cannot end inside of two years."

The agents of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Kansas, Nebraska and several other Western States have noticed impending indications of a grasshopper plague early in the coming Summer. This will be welcome news to that Nebraska fellow who captures the hoppers, puts them up in blocks and sells them for chicken feed.

A COALING STATION.

Underwriting Syndicate Completed in Baltimore for Development of Fields.

DENIAL FROM THE SEABOARD

President Williams Says His Road Has Nothing to Do With the Scheme. May Mean Much for Wilmington and Southport.

The following press telegram from Baltimore will be read with much interest here:

"BALTIMORE, March 19.—The underwriting syndicate for the coal and railroad deal of the Union Trust Company was to-day completed and the amount largely over subscribed. This syndicate is for $2,800,000. It secures large tracts of coal lands—upwards of 100,000 acres—in southwest Virginia, and will build the Virginia & Southwestern and Ohio River & Charleston Railroads.

"These lines will form a short route from the coal fields of Wise county to Lincolnton, N. C. From the latter place they will run over the Seaboard Air Line to Southport, N. C., where large coal piers and docks will be built to handle the coal and other business.

"It is likely that an extension northward to the Ohio river may also be built, but the present underwriting does not include such a line. President Blackistone of the Union Trust Company has been working on this deal for several months. New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore capitalists are interested."

Regarding the recent publication in the Richmond Times in regard to the impression made upon the Virginia Senate Committee on Roads by an attorney for the Norfolk and Western to the effect that the Seaboard Air Line is probably back of a new road on its own account for the development of the coal fields of Buchanan, Dickenson and Wise counties and the ultimate extension of a direct line to Wilmington or Southport, President John Skelton Williams day before yesterday gave to the same paper an interview in which he denies his road's connection with the matter. President Williams says:

"If the attorney is quoted correctly in the morning papers, the statements which he made in regard to the Seaboard Air Line Railway are not according with the facts in the case, and are remarkably incorrect.

"The statement which he is reported to have made that the Gladesville Railway charter was probably backed by the Seaboard Air Line is without foundation, and the further statement that the Seaboard has recently purchased the Virginia and Southwestern Railroad is equally incorrect.

"The Seaboard Air Line Railway has been frequently urged to extend its lines into the coal fields of Southwest Virginia, in order to develop properties which are now lying dormant and yield neither the State nor their owners any revenue, and if we should at any time determine upon such a policy, the selfish arguments advanced by the gentlemen referred to are not likely to have any weight with the legislators who have at heart the best interests of the Commonwealth and are anxious to see her resources developed."

BURIAL IN HIS MOTHER LAND.

Remains of Chinaman Exhumed for Shipment to His Old Country for Interment.

The body of Dean Lee, one of Wilmington's colony of Celestials who died at the age of 45 years here on March 2nd, 1899, was exhumed yesterday by Undertaker W. E. Yopp and the remains were prepared and shipped last night to far away China for re-interment.

The body of the dead man was taken up at the request of his brother, Sam Lee, who now conducts a laundry on Market street, and all the expenses of the transfer will be met by him. The remains will go from Wilmington to James Naughton, undertaker, at 31-37 Mott street, New York, and from there they will be sent across the ocean to China. Remaining members of the family will have the body re-interred.

Meeting for Teachers.

The teachers of the public schools in the county for the white race will meet at the Court House at 10 A. M. to morrow for a general conference similar to those held lately at stated intervals. The meeting is for an interchange of ideas and mutual benefit generally. The teachers will discuss to-morrow the best methods of teaching grammar and geography.

Onions Now Being Shipped.

Faison Journal, 20th: "Onions are the leading article of perishable stuff now being shipped to the Northern markets. There has been quite a demand for them this season, and from the hundreds of packages that have been transported to the cities of late, we must believe they are all highly perfumed by now. The man who can get up something to destroy the odor of the onion will have his fortune made."

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Excursion—To Bald Head.
Murchison National Bank-Dividend

BUSINESS LOCALS.

Wanted—White girl or woman.
A. S. Winstead—Car load bananas.

LOCAL DOTS.

— Sales of spirits of turpentine were made yesterday after closing hour at the Produce Exchange at 45@46 cents.

— Deputy Sheriff Harvey Cox left yesterday for Raleigh, conveying the insane white woman, Mrs. Lizzie Newsome to the Eastern Hospital.

—The directors of the Murchison National Bank have declared a dividend of three per cent., payable to stockholders of record April 1st.

— Prof. S. T. Ford, the New York humorist and lecturer, who will appear here Thursday and Friday nights at the Y. M. C. A., will lecture at Southport under the auspices of the School Library Committee Wednesday night.

— The alarm of fire at 11:34 A. M. yesterday was on account of a small blaze on the roof of a house occupied by Jos. G. Wiggins, No. 1001 North Ninth street. The department responded to an alarm from box 18. The damage was about $5.00.

— Subscribers who receive bills for subscriptions due the STAR are reminded that it is not fair to expect a publisher to supply them with news for nothing. Many, however, seem to think otherwise. As soon as a bill is received a prompt remittance should be made.

— The "Spring Chickens" and "Fourth Street Sluggers" played an interesting game of baseball yesterday, which resulted in a score of 19 to 10 in favor of the first named aggregation. The batteries were E. Moore and Bowser and J. Morris and Gore, respectively.

— Representative Bellamy has been making an aggressive fight for an appropriation of $350,000 for the upper Cape Fear river improvement, and his name frequently appears in the Associated Press telegraphic reports of the proceedings in the House of Representatives.

THE SOULE ART EXHIBIT.

Yesterday Was "Hemenway Day" and It Was a Magnificent Success.

Yesterday was "Hemenway Day" at the Soule Art Exposition now in progress at the Tileston building and hundreds of students from that institution, their friends and the general public visited the magnificent exhibit and went away well pleased. It was no uncommon sight yesterday morning to see trolley cars well filled with children, chaperoned by their teachers, passing down Front street in the direction of the hall and the managers stated last night that they were quite well pleased with the total attendance during the day.

The hall where the exhibit is in progress is admirably adapted to the purposes for which it is being used this week and the collection of pictures is pleasing to the eye of the most exacting critic.

To-day will be "Union School Day" and, of course, that popular institution will vie with the others in making it a success beyond expectation. The hours are from 4 to 6:30 P. M. and 8 to 10 P. M. The public is cordially invited.

Delightful Outing for Sunday.

Despite the rough weather last Sunday the excursion on the steamer Wilmington to Bald Head and out to sea was so popular that Capt. Harper has decided to repeat it next Sunday, at which time he hopes to have more favorable conditions. All points of interest along the route will be "passed at" and the excursionists will have an opportunity of taking a novel "mule car" ride from the new government wharf at Bald Head over to the lighthouse. The fare for the round trip will be only 25 cents.

Sales of Valuable Realty.

The estate of the late Robert H. McKoy has sold through the real estate agency of J. G. Wright & Son to the Willard Bag and Mfg. Co. the building and lot, next north of the company's plant on South Water street. The "Bush Shingle Mill," across the river, has also been sold by Messrs. Wright & Son to Chas. M. Betts & Co., of Philadelphia, for $2,500.

A FREIGHT BUREAU.

Committee Recommends That One be Established in Connection With Produce Exchange.

THE CONSOLIDATION SCHEME

It Met With Favor by the Managers and Will be Submitted to General Meeting in April—Quotations On Spirits of Turpentine.

The plan of consolidation for the commercial bodies of the city, as adopted Wednesday afternoon by the Chamber of Commerce, was submitted to the Board of Managers of the Produce Exchange at a special meeting at 4 P. M. yesterday and was received with great favor. The plan was unanimously endorsed and the president was requested to submit the same to the annual meeting of the entire Exchange on the second Tuesday in April for its consideration and action.

Another very important matter before the Board of Managers yesterday was consideration of the report of a special committee in regard to the establishment of a freight bureau to be maintained in connection with the Exchange. The committee consisted of President P. Pearsall, Mr. J. A. Taylor, Mr. L. B. Rogers and Mr. G. J. Boney and its report was likewise adopted and referred to the annual meeting in April for final consideration and action. The report is as follows:

Committee Report—Freight Bureau.

It has been apparent for some time that the Exchange was wanting in some features to make it more valuable to the business community. Undoubtedly it is beyond our financial ability to equip an Exchange in an ideal manner; nevertheless, we are of the opinion that some features can be added with our present resources which will make the Exchange more valuable, and while insuring the integrity of the present membership, hold out inducements to others to become members.

Every one recognizes the vital influence of freight rates on the welfare of a business community. Indeed, freight rates can either make or unmake a commercial centre. Changes in rates are constantly going on either to the detriment or the betterment of a community. These changes are made more frequently silent and unobserved than radical and sensible. Any radical change will at once arrest the attention of the public while minor changes will often pass unnoticed. Again, changes can be made in reclassification, which to the average merchant is unintelligible and as a general rule escape notice altogether. Intelligent application of the situation and the force of public opinion are the most essential means for safe-guarding traffic conditions. The protest of an individual is often made light of as the ebullition of a fault-finding spirit, but concert of action supported by a strong public sentiment commands respect and insures results.

It follows, from the foregoing, that to incorporate a freight bureau feature would be a very wise and valuable addition to the machinery of the Exchange, and will in our opinion be the means of gaining new members and doing a work for the community whose importance can scarcely be measured. It is as of much importance that freight rates should be known and every change noted as it is to furnish the intelligence of market quotations. The most powerful weapon against freight rate discrimination is intimate acquaintance with traffic conditions on the part of the public, and with a bureau equipped as suggested there would be no excuse for ignorance of actual traffic conditions on the part of any member of the Exchange.

We think it feasible to add to the present duties of the secretary that of conducting such a department, and recommend that this be done. For the additional service the secretary would no doubt be entitled to some additional consideration. * * * * It is essential that the bureau be thoroughly equipped, and the work so systematized that every change in rates would be at once noted, and every member of the Exchange put in possession of the fact.

The details will have to be worked out by the governing board, but the machinery will be very simple, and the additional cost very small. Respectfully submitted.

Spirits Turpentine Quotations.

About the only other question which came to the attention of the Board was in regard to the difference in quotations for spirits of turpentine in machine-made casks and country casks. For a long time the rule was that a difference in favor of the superior package should be only half a cent, but lately that rule has been disregarded and spirits in country casks has been selling uniformly one cent lower than when contained in the machine-made barrel. The secretary was instructed yesterday to notify dealers in spirits that at the regular meeting of the Board of Managers in April the matter of difference in quotations would be acted upon, application having been made to the body for a ruling on the same. All members interested are requested to be in attendance upon the Board meeting at that time in order that a full and intelligent discussion may be had.

Mr. S. J. Springer to Wed.

Friends in the city yesterday received handsomely engraved invitations as follows: "Mrs. Eugene Murray Short invites you to be present at the marriage of her daughter, Bessie Stone, to Mr. Samuel Jennings Springer on Wednesday evening, April the ninth, nineteen hundred and two, at nine o'clock, Presbyterian church, Washington, North Carolina. At home after May first, Wilmington, North Carolina." The prospective groom is one of Wilmington's most progressive young business men as a member of the firm of J. A. Springer & Co., and the bride elect is a young lady of many personal charms and beauty.

COAST LINE STOCKS.

Rapid Advance Creates Interest in Baltimore and Elsewhere—Rumors as to the Cause.

Advices from Baltimore are to the effect that the recent marked advance in the stocks of both the Atlantic Coast Line, of Connecticut and the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company has created much interest there. The tendency of the market for those stocks has also been watched with intense interest here, where a large amount of the stock is owned and where the general offices of the latter company are located.

A dispatch from Baltimore says there are a number of rumors there, but there is authority for only one, which is to the effect that the dividend on the common stock of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company will be increased from 3 to 4 per cent. This is expected in Coast Line circles. One report was that the Pennsylvania Railroad would buy the property. This met a prompt denial from an official source.

Another was that the Atlantic Coast Line of Connecticut would secure control of the Plant System, but this was regarded as impracticable under the strong anti-consolidation laws of Florida and Georgia. The probable distribution of surplus assets was another explanation, but it is regarded a stoo early since the last dividend of this sort to expect another one.

FIRST GUN OF THE SEASON.

Game of Baseball Between Crack Teams at Hilton This Afternoon

The baseball season proper will be inaugurated this afternoon with a game at Hilton between the "High School Champions" and "Merriwell's Blue Caps." An exciting contest is expected as the managers claim the teams are in fine trim. The public is invited. The teams will line up as follows:

CHAMPIONS		BLUE CAPS.
Moore, L	c	Tilley
Foard	p	Linder
McIntire	1b	Huhn
Cole	2b	Litgen
Hall	3b	Little, F.
Wescott	s. s	Daniels
Schulken	l. f	Register
Morse	c. f	Guthries
Orrell	r. f	Wright

L. Moore is captain and manager of the "Champions" while Joe Linder will direct the fortunes of the "Blue Caps."

Transfer of the Newkirk Place

A deed in fee simple from Luther A. Blue and wife to Thos. H. Wright, under date of March 14th, and conveying the Newkirk plantation on the sound was filed yesterday for record at the Court House. The consideration named is "the sum of one dollar and for other and more valuable consideration." The deed defines two tracts, the first beginning at the mouth of Barren Inlet Creek and running south along the margin of the sound, following its various courses to a live oak at the mouth of Goose Creek; thence north 100 poles to a rice field branch; thence same course 250 poles to a white oak on William Mott's back line; thence with that line and Daniel McClammy's line 232 poles to Barren Inlet and with the run of the creek to the beginning. The second track is bounded on the northwest by the tract above, on the east by the sound, on the south by the land now or lately owned by Benj Mott, on the west by the lands of S. Sneeden and on the north by the land conveyed by William Mott to John Swann. The tracts contain 1,250 acres, more or less, and are understood to have been purchased by Mr. Wright for Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont.

Small Schooner in Distress.

Capt. Marine, of Marine's, Onslow county, was in the city yesterday to get a hawser and other apparatus for the purpose of pulling off a small coasting schooner belonging to him, which went ashore Wednesday afternoon while coming through Corn Cake inlet. She had a cargo of naval stores which was lightered without success in an effort to get the vessel off. The vessel is, however, not in bad position and Capt. Marine expected to get her off on high tide yesterday afternoon. The schooner is a new one and has not yet been named. She is 60 feet long, 18 feet beam and draws 4½ feet of water. She was making her initial trip when she went aground.

Skeleton of Britisher Exhumed.

Laborers engaged yesterday in digging away a hill to make place for a building of the Cape Fear Fisheries Co. at Old Brunswick are reported to have unearthed a skeleton, which is most probably that of a British soldier killed during or before the Revolutionary war. With the skeleton embedded in the earth were a number of military buttons which bear the imprint of an English manufacturer for the British army during the 17th century. It was indeed an interesting find and recalls many bits of history connected with Old Brunswick and England long ago.

New Rule at Banks.

Posted conspicuously in the two national banks of the city is this notice: "No accounts carried unless the average balance is $100 or over." The ruling was made in order to facilitate the transaction of business by the two institutions.

MILLINERY OPENING.

Annual Easter Display at Wilmington's Big Racket Store Now in Progress.

A MAGNIFICENT SUCCESS.

Hundreds Visited the Establishment Yesterday and Many More Will Go Today—Profusion of Styles and Latest Creations.

Wilmington's Big Racket Store, Mr. George O. Gaylord proprietor, was an exceedingly popular establishment with the ladies yesterday and hundreds of them thronged the place from early morning until late in the evening.

The occasion of the rush was the annual Easter opening of dry goods and millinery at that popular emporium, and it is safe to say that no more splendid success has attended an opening this season in any store than was manifest at the store of Mr. Gaylord yesterday.

From garret to cellar the immense building wore a gala attire and the magnificent display was a work of art. Clever salesmen and salesladies had transformed the place into a veritable beauty-land, the decorations having been especially fine. Each department received the skilled attention of its manager and the goods were there to speak for themselves.

The millinery department in charge of Miss Alma Brown and a corps of twelve experienced assistants, is of course, attracting the most widespread attention and really excels all others in the manner of its decoration and the beauty and variety of styles shown Miss Brown and Mr. Gaylord recently spent nearly a month in the Northern markets and their discriminating and superior taste in selection is especially noticeable. The stock is the largest ever brought by Mr. Gaylord to Wilmington and there is no reason why the most fastidious or the most humble purchaser may not find "just the very thing" wanted.

There are a number of new and very pretty styles this season and Miss Brown's stock includes them all. There's no reason to designate by names, numbers or fancies—they are all there and suited to the tastes of the many.

The dress goods department display is notable among the others and everything new is included. The display of organdies, dimities, foulards, dotted Swiss, wash taffetas, piques, silk ginghams, shirt waist silks, black goods and flannel dress goods in all colors is very fine. They are also showing tricots and albatross in profusion. A full line of silk shirt waists and tailor made suits are fashionable and creditably displayed.

The opening will continue through to-day and this evening. The ladies are especially invited to attend.

Reunion of Brunswick Veterans.

A number of the Confederate Veterans, of Brunswick county, met this week at Southport and decided to have a reunion and rally there on Saturday, May 24th. The township chairmen, appointed last reunion, were requested to call a meeting of veterans in their respective townships and organize in order to bring out a full attendance. Invitations were extended to Capt. Swift Galloway, of Snow Hill, Capt. T. C. Davis of Morehead City, Hon. D. L. Russell, of Wilmington, Capt. D. C. Allen, of Bernard and Rev. A. D. Betts, of Bethel. Ivitation was also extended to the Monumental Association to meet with the veterans, and to act as a committee of arrangements.

Basket Ball To-night.

The "Boys' Brigade" and "Young Men" will try conclusions on the basket ball floor at the City Hall to-night, and a contest royal is expected. After the game there will be an interesting athletic exercise in high and broad jumping, in which features the Y. M. C. A. team recently excelled in Charlotte. The public is cordially invited.

The Baseball Outlook.

Mr. Edgar Bear continued his personal canvass for baseball funds yesterday and secured between $125 and $130. He will make one more effort to-day and upon the result of the day's work will depend Wilmington's hopes of having a team in the League. Mr. Bear in making his canvass necessarily fails to see many who would possibly subscribe and to all these he requests that they telephone him or make known the amount of their subscriptions in some way. If Wilmington is to have a team Mr. Bear says the money must be forthcoming to-day.

BY WILLIAM H. BERNARD

WILMINGTON, N. C.

FRIDAY MORNING MARCH 21.

MAKING TROUBLE FOR THEMSELVES.

The Republicans in Congress are making a record which will be of immense benefit to the Democratic party in the coming Congressional and Presidential elections, for it is a record which they cannot defend when confronted with it. Professing to represent the people and to be working for the betterment of the masses they have been controlled by the trusts and combines and have done their bidding as hirelings might do the work of their masters, and have given the people as little thought and consideration as if they were the mere hewers of wood and drawers of water for the trusts and combines.

As an illustration, take the oleomargarine bill which passed the House of Representatives by a large majority after a mere formal discussion. Did the people ask for that? Was there any expression of popular sentiment asking for this legislation to destroy the oleomargarine industry, which supplies poor people with a cheap substitute for butter, makes a market for millions of gallons of cotton seed oil and gives employment to thousands of people? No one demanded the enactment of such legislation but the dairymen of the North who looked upon oleomargarine as a competitor and as a reducer of their profits, although the price of good butter has for some time had an upward tendency in spite of the large increase in the consumption of oleomargarine.

The large dairies are in the North and in the West, and it was to placate these that this attempt was made to crush the oleomargarine industry. They would take money out of the pockets of the people to put it in the pockets of their friends, the dairymen.

Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, has some constituents who are engaged in the growing of fine wool, and he is working to put through Congress a law to protect his friends from the folly of the men who framed and passed the Dingley tariff bill, which put such a tariff on wool as to stimulate the shoddy industry to such an extent that it materially interferes with the fine wool industry. With the tariff duties on woollen goods they are too dear for the masses of the people, and as a result they buy shoddy substitutes because they are cheaper, whether they know they are shoddy or not. Mr. Grosvenor, in the interest of his friends, the wool growers, now proposes a law requiring manufacturers to label the goods they make, the label to show the quantity of wool, and of other materials there is in that piece of goods. The object of the law is ostensibly to protect the buyers from imposition, by letting them know what they are buying, but the real object is to drive shoddies out of the market as competitors of wool.

As a matter of fact there is no objection to a law requiring things to be sold for what they really are, but this isn't the motive with Mr. Grosvenor, who is not thinking of protecting the people from being imposed upon by the manufacturers of goods resembling woollen goods, but to check the use of substitutes for wool, thus increase the demand for wool and increase the sales and profits of his wool-growing constituents. As between them and the people it is their voice that is heard and their interests that are looked after.

Again, take the case of the Cuban tariff and reciprocity, about which so much has been said since the late President McKinley commended it so earnestly in his message to Congress. When he remarked upon the advisability of reciprocity as a means of giving us the wider markets our exporters need and favored a reduction of the tariff on articles which no longer needed high protection, his sentiments were generally endorsed by the leaders of the party and were approved by the masses of his party. This was so general that the inference was that one of the first measures in Congress would be to establish reciprocity, where it was practicable, and to reduce the tariff duties on such articles as no longer needed protection from the "cheap pauper labor of Europe."

The very first effort, when it was tried on Cuba, failed, the leaders not only ignoring the recommendation of the President they professed to esteem so highly, but repudiating the pledges to Cuba and the solemn obligations which we assumed when we took upon ourselves the guardianship of Cuba, and practically took from her the right to do anything for herself without first consulting us and securing our sanction.

They have tried to wriggle out of this shameful breach of faith, and ignoring of Mr. McKinley's recommendations by favoring temporary 20 per cent. reduction makeshift, which doesn't settle that question but simply postpones the settlement for two years more.

Why all this vacillation and repudiation of promises? Simply because certain protected interests demanded it—sugar makers, tobacco growers, citrus fruit growers and others who were less concerned about the country's honor than they were in the profits made out of the monopoly the tariff gave them in their respective lines. The political campaign contributors were on our side, solemn promises and the American people on the other side, and the campaign contributors won.

How will they defend their shameful course on this question when they are cited before the people and called upon to explain and defend it? They can't do it.

The ship subsidy bill, which will take about five or six millions of dollars a year out of the pockets of the people, has passed the Senate as a party measure. Six Republican Senators voted against it after vainly trying to amend it so that they could dare to vote for it. Every Democrat in the Senate voted against it, save one, who still persists in calling himself a Democrat, although he affiliates and votes with the Republicans—McLaurin, of South Carolina. The six Republican Senators who voted against it represent agricultural States, and they knew when they were so voting that they were voting in accordance with the sentiments of the people of their States.

If that had not been made a party measure it never could have passed the Senate. Why was it made a party measure? Because some rich men who will build or now own fast steamers will get the larger part of the subsidies, and these men and the ship builders who expect to profit by it, wanted it, and they are liberal contributors to Republican campaign funds. It was the few with the money who help the Republican party with their money, on one side, and the people who will be called upon to pay the subsidies on the other, and the campaign contributors won.

These are a few illustrations of the record they have made so far, and they are not done yet. It is a record that Democrats, viewing it from a party standpoint, may rejoice in for it means trouble for the Republican party.

HOW CAN IT DO IT?

There is little doubt that a vast majority of the American people sympathize with the Boers in their heroic defence of their country against the British invaders, and there is as little doubt, too, that if our Government had not been so tangled up by the assumed friendship between this country and Great Britain, this sympathy would long ago have found expression in some declaration of Congress.

While the fact that the recent resolutions, adopted by the Democratic Congressional caucus in Washington, emanated from a Democratic caucus, and therefore have a partisan coloring, may prevent a general response from the people, they express the popular sentiment all the same.

But how could Congress pass a resolution of sympathy with the Boers? How could it ask the British Government to end the war by some honorable adjustment of the dispute? If we had no war on our hands in the Philippines Congress might do that and possibly might have done it before this but we have by the course of the party which has been waging war upon the Filipinos estopped ourselves from consistently making any plea for the Boers, or of even indirectly condemning British methods in the prosecution of that war. The Filipinos are fighting invaders just as the Boers are; they are contending for territorial soverignty and self rule just as the Boers are, and they are just as much entitled to territorial sovereignty and self rule as the Boers are. But in addition to this our military represenatives who are carrying out the Washington policy in the Philippines have adopted British methods pursued in South Africa, thereby virtually endorsing those methods.

If such a resolution were adopted by Congress, if the British Government paid any attention to it, it might simply tell Congress to look to the Philippines and set its own house in order before it undertook to tell Great Britain or any other power how it should manage its domestic affairs.

The resolution will not be adopted, of course, for if there were no other reason for not adopting it, the Republican majority in Congress would not so stultify itself.

IS THE BALL TO REOPEN?

China still figures in the dispatches as the prospective theatre in which there may be some pretty stirring drama enacted in the near future. A formidable and spreading rebellion; alliance between England and Japan, and a counter alliance between Russia and France, indicate anything but a solution of the Chinese problem. When this rebellion broke out it was intimated that it was encouraged by France, and it is not at all improbable that Russia has a paw in the pie, too. Neither of these—and for that matter none of the Governments which have recently figured in the Chinese racket—has any respect for the so-called government of China, which is a mere automaton, put up to be knocked down when it suits the pleasure or the interest of any power strong enough to do the knocking.

Under the restrictions put upon China in the terms imposed by the allied Powers, before they relaxed their grip on Pekin, the Government of China is practically powerless to protect itself against any formidable rebellion and the people who may be loyal to it have little heart to rally to its support, for they don't know how soon it and they might be at the mercy of the victorious rebels, and they have no long head like that of Li Hung Chang to help them in emergencies, or to play the diplomatic game with the Powers.

That's about the situation now. China is still a field for exploit. Having begun the exploiting business and found how easy it is the appetite of the exploiters has been whetted for more. They have all gobbled something, but Russia the biggest slice, which she proposes to hold on to and grab for more. The alliance between England and Japan may precipitate the grabbing instead of preventing it. In the meantime there is a formidable and growing rebellion which may furnish a pretext for resuming the grabbing.

Some cows have no more sense about what they eat than some people. One in New York became troubled with dyspepsia, and the owner thought the cheapest way to cure her was to kill her. An autopsy revealed the fact that she had been feeding on scrap iron, staples, nails, &c. A 10-penny nail was crowded so hard that it worked through the walls of her stomach and did the work for her.

It is estimated that the orange crop of California will be from 25 to 50 per cent. short this season as compared with that of last season, but the prices are from 25 to 50 per cent higher on the box, so that the growers are not hit very hard.

CURRENT COMMENT

—— A Grange representing 2,000 farmers of Onondaga County, has adopted a resolution in favor of reciprocity with Cuba; but the Republicans in Congress representing the Beet Sugar Trust continue to fight against it.—Brooklyn Citizen, Dem.

—— It is said that the Rev. Baker P. Lee, of Kentucky, who has been offered the pulpit of Grace Episcopal church, Chicago, at a salary of $15,000 per year, does exactly as he pleases. He probably also allows his parshioners to do the same thing, which would account for the size of his salary.—Atlanta Journal, Dem.

—— From a careful reading of the New Orleans newpapers we gather that protection for sugar is or ought to be the paramount plank in the democratic platform. Reciprocity is all right when it affects those things not the product of the beet and sugar cane. It's about time for Senator Carmack to make some remarks about the quality of the democracy of the Louisiana sugar planters.—Chattanooga Times, Ind.

—— If Senator Hanna can play for the support of organized labor so also can President Roosevelt. In dropping Mr. Powderly, who has lost his hold upon the labor unions, and putting Mr. Sargent, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Fireman, in his place there is a very neat counter for the Ohio statesman's tactics. If the change in the Immigration Bureau shall put its administration upon a broader gauge of public usefulness there will be cause for thankfulness.—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

Consumption

Is a disease of civilization. When the Indian was a stranger to the white man he had no name in his vocabulary for this dreaded malady.

Without arguing as to the curability of consumption, it may be stated positively that Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures weak lungs, hemorrhages, bronchitis, deep-seated and stubborn cough, and other diseases which if neglected or unskillfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption. There is no alcohol in the "Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Persons suffering from chronic disease are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is conducted under the seal of sacred secrecy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

In a little over thirty years, Dr. Pierce, assisted by his medical staff of nearly a score of physicians, has treated and cured thousands of men and women who had been given up as incurable by local physicians.

"You: medicine is the best I have ever taken," writes Mrs. Jennie Dingman, of Rapid City, Kalkaska Co., Mich. "Last spring I had a bad cough, got so bad I had to be in bed all the time. My husband thought I had consumption. He wanted me to get a doctor, but thought we would try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and before I had taken one bottle the cough stopped and I have since had no sign of its returning."

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Fayetteville Observer: We have just received the sad news, as we go to press, of the death of Mr. Edmund Pemberton, a nephew of Dr. H. W. Lilly. He died suddenly at Chapel Hill this (Wednesday) afternoon.

— Kinston Free Press: Mr. L. T. Leo died in a sudden manner in Chinquapin township in Jones county, yesterday. He was doing some ceiling work, when he suddenly became ill, and a negro who was working with him caught him as he was falling. He exclaimed! "I am done, I am paralyzed." These were the last words he spoke.

— Wilson News: Monday afternoon at the oil mill a negro boy about eight years old, while playing in the seed house, was caught by the seed conveyor, which pulled him in feet first, causing the conveyor to choke, which threw off the belt. Upon investigation the boy was found. One of his legs was so badly mangled that it had to be taken off, the other leg was broken. It is thought that he will live. He is the son of Jordan Taylor.

— Greensboro Record: Revenue Agent A. C. Patterson left last Monday night for an official business trip to Asheville. He reports that within the past three or four days a number of important seizures have been made, among them being a big government distillery belonging to A. A. Cody located near Salisbury, one near Benson belonging to a man named Holmes, also three or four illicit distilleries, two of which were in Transylvania county and three near Staley in Randolph county. The revenue officers also made some captures in Forsyth county last week.

— Goldsboro Headlight: The sudden death of Mrs Kate Edgerton Thompson occurred of heart failure at her home in this city Tuesday morning, aged 35 years. —— Mr Lou's Godwin, county surveyor, has been doubly bereaved within one week. On Sunday, the 9th inst., his 17-year old daughter Sudie died after a nine days' illness of pneumonia, and on Saturday morning, the 15th, his wife succumbed to the same disease, in the 48th year of her age. —— Our farmers are anything but smiles these days. They are already badly behind and the weather keeps such that they can't help themselves. —— While fooling with a supposed unloaded pistol Saturday night at Mount Olive, Newberry Gregory, colored, accidentally shot Dave Walker, also colored, in the eye, the ball lodging somewhere in the back part of the head. The wounded was doing well when last heard from, while Newberry skipped.

— Clinton Democrat: A ten-year-old girl of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Sanderlin, of Westbrook's township, met her death in a very unusual, as well as a very sad manner, on Thursday, March 13th. The mother and an older girl left this one and a still younger one in the house, while they went off some distance to a turnip patch, giving the two little ones instructions to go to a neighbor's house to stay till their return. It seems that the smallest girl of the two had gotten out in the yard, while the other fastened up the house and attempted to get out by a window, and as she went out, the sash fell, catching the child by the neck, thus leaving her hanging, where she was afterwards found dead, her neck supposed to have been broken. When found the younger child was pulling at her clothing, being too young to realize what had occurred.

— Whiteville Press: Messrs. O. F. Brown and M. H. Sweet, two commission men of Providence, R. I., have recently acquired lands adjoining Whiteville, which they intend to devote to the production of strawberries for their own market. The demand for berries has excelled the supply to their market and they have been reduced to the necessity of growing for themselves. Fifteen acres will be put in berries at once and the acreage increased to 200 in the future. —— Saturday night three men went to the house of one Renzie Davis, a white man who lives some two miles from town, and called him out to the woods and gave him a severe and probably justly deserved beating. Davis had been accused of ill-treating his wife who is in a critical condition of health, and of trying to poison her with drugs. Davis has left for parts unknown.

A Fireman's Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman, of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up I got a bottle of Electric Bitters, and after taking it I felt as well I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly, run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by R. R. BELLAMY, druggist. Price 50 cents.

— Young Lady—A friend of mine is engaged to a man and now he refuses to marry her. What would you advise her to do? Old Lawyer—Is the man wealthy? Young Lady—No; he hasn't a shilling. Old Lawyer—Then I'd advise her to write him a nice letter of thanks.—Tit-Bits.

— Housekeeper—Ice will be very cheap next summer, won't it? Iceman—Well, I don't know, mum. You see we've got a good deal of dear ice left over from the year before, and we'll have to sell that first, because it might spoil, you know, and I'm afraid by the time the old stock is gone the cheap ice will all be melted.—Ex.

RAILWAY RUMBLES.

Our miles of railroad track exceed by more than 10,000 all the tracks of Europe.

The Dominion of Canada has granted $88,884,557 and 39,725,130 acres of land to railways.

More than 45,000,000 passengers a year go through the North Union and South Union stations in Boston.

In most European railways the principal difference between second class and first class lies in the color of the seat cushions, first class being usually red, second class gray.

The average cost of the body of a modern long electric car is $2,000, the average price of a set of double trucks for such a car is $600, and the average cost of the motor is $1,500, making the total cost of the car $4,100.

Some of the Austrian railways have followed the German custom of selling numbered seats in the cars of fast trains, both first and second class. An extra charge of from about 25 to 50 cents is made for these seats, according to distance.

The other day, just as a train was about to leave Kutas, in Hungary, for Palfalva, an official appeared and put seals on the wheels of the engine. The passengers had to get off and walk. The company was 296 crowns in arrears in payment of taxes. Next day the taxes were paid, and the train proceeded.

THREE TALL STORIES.

Incidents With Endings Contrary to All Human Experience.

"I have got just $3,000 to spend in building a house," said the confiding man who had dropped into the office of the architect, "and I want you to draw me the plans for a good two story frame dwelling that can be built for that sum, counting materials, work and all."

So the architect drew the plans and specifications for a $3,000 house, and the man subsequently built it for that sum, with $6.37 to spare, which he spent in giving the architect a dinner at a down town restaurant.

A woman awoke in the middle of the night with a shriek.

"John," she cried to her husband, "my sister Jane is dead! I know it! I have just had a frightfully vivid dream about her."

But her husband quieted her, and presently she went to sleep, her cheeks still wet with tears.

Then he noted the exact hour at which his wife had had her dream.

The next day, as can be verified by anybody who is skeptical, no messenger of any sort came with a telegram containing the sad news of the death of her sister Jane, who, at last accounts, was still alive and well.

"Curses on my folly!" suddenly exclaimed Mr. Jrobinson when about half way down town.

It was a beautiful day, and there was not a cloud in the sky.

He had donned his high silk hat and forgotten his umbrella.

Still—mark the statement—it did not rain.

In fact, it didn't rain for nearly two weeks after that.—Chicago Tribune.

Dr. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION FOR WEAK WOMEN.

FROM OCEAN TO OCEAN

Wise Women Use The Great Spring Medicine

Paine's Celery Compound

It is the Only Remedy That Can Provide for the Increase of Red Corpuscles in the Blood.

From every section of the land, from Maine to California, strong and well attested reports of women, bloodless, nervous, dyspeptic, neuralgic, rheumatic, and run down, and in many cases so weak as to be bedridden, who have been enabled to resume their places in the family and in social life, enjoy health, vigor, and true happiness, all through the aid of that great blood purifier, blood maker, and health giver, Paine's Celery Compound.

When Paine's Celery Compound is used, the rapid change in color, flesh, and expression of the face is so marked and observable, that repair of the wasted tissues might well be called a renewal of life.

Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that can effectively increase the proportion of red corpuscles in the blood; this is a source of power over all blood diseases, rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney and liver troubles, dyspepsia, indigestion, and general run down condition.

Mrs. Martha P. Lunceford, a well known and popular lady of Crawfordsville, Ga., grateful for her cure by Paine's Celery Compound, sends the following letter for the benefit of all suffering women:

"I think it is my duty to let you know about the wonderful work Paine's Celery Compound has done for me. I have been sick for the past fifteen or twenty years with dyspepsia, heart and stomach trouble, and rheumatism, and so many diseases that I can't mention them all.

"As for sleep, I didn't know what it was to have a good night's sleep, and would roll and tumble and sit up in bed half the night. The second night I took Paine's Celery Compound, I went to bed and slept all night. You don't know how much better I felt in the morning. I have not lost a night's sleep since I have been taking Paine's Celery Compound. I don't know in what words to thank you for Paine's Celery Compound. It is worth its weight in gold."

Her Omelet.

"My dear," said the meek Mr. Newlywed, "I don't like to complain, but this omelet you made"—

"What's the matter with it?" she inquired.

"Well—er—it's rather hard to cut it, and"—

"Gracious! I was afraid that man would send me tough eggs. I'll stop dealing with him."—Glasgow Evening Times.

Learned by Failure.

"Fortunately I failed to win the prize," the historian Freeman once said, referring to an Oxford essay on the Norman conquest. "Had I won it I should have flattered myself I knew all about the subject. As it was I went on and learned something about it." The "something" is set forth on one of the greatest monuments of English historical scholarship.

"Pin Money."

When pins were first invented in the fourteenth century, the maker was allowed to sell them on Jan. 1 and 2 only, and upon these days the women flocked to buy them. They were so expensive that it was customary to give as a wedding present a certain sum of money to be used as "pin money;" hence the term.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

NEW YORK, March 20.—The cotton market opened easy in tone, with prices two to three points lower, and during the rest of the morning was weak under tremendous liquidation and bear selling. A prominent commission house, believed to be acting for Western longs, sold out between 40,000 and 50,000 bales July within fifteen minutes, under which that option broke from 8 86 to 8 80. The rest of the list went off in proportion, though March and April continued to hold a firm relation to the later months on scattering demand from spot cotton interests. Disappointing English market news started the selling movement though the recent "tired" appearance of the market undoubtedly prompted the precipitate liquidation for Western accounts. On the break room shorts scrambled for profits and conservative traders bought on the reaction theory. Yet public buying did not figure as a feature at the lower prices to the extent expected. While July later rallied to 8.86 the market failed to display positive strength and was very sensitive to selling orders from any quarter. Light port receipts for the day and very light estimates for to-morrow's New Orleans and Houston receipts received but passing notice. Nor did clearances for export which reached several thousand bales more than total port receipts. Modified estimates for the week's "in sight" were equally unpopular and to the last sentiment was bearish. At the close the market was quiet and steady, with prices net unchanged to five points lower. Total sales were estimated at 250,000 bales.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Cotton quiet at 9¼c; net receipts 564 bales; gross receipts 6,634 bales; stock 171,687 bales.

Spot cotton closed quiet; middling uplands 9¼c; middling gulf 9¼c; sales 1,126 bales.

Futures closed quiet and steady: March 8 93, April 8 90, May 8 81, June 8 84, July 8 88, August 8 65, September 8.37, October 8.09, November 7.90, December 7.99.

Total to-day—Net receipts 17,108 bales; exports to Great Britain 12,431 bales; exports to France — bales; exports to the Continent 8,967 bales; stock 724,766 bales.

Consolidated—Net receipts 37,409 bales; exports to Great Britain 33,486 bales; exports to the Continent 37,399 bales.

HINDOO'S MONUMENT TO HIS WIFE.

The Most Costly Thing of Its Kind In the World.

To go to India and not see the wonderful Taj Mahal at Agra would be as great a sacrilege as going to Egypt and missing the pyramids. Agra is a small place about midway on a line drawn from Calcutta to Bombay. The English officers who have to spend the summer there lie in bed all day, with coolies to fan them and pull the "punka." Therefore I was constrained to do my sightseeing at night. It was the time of the full moon, which in India means a grand illumination, a light excellent by which to read.

After a three mile drive over an excellent macadamized road my "gharriwallah" turned into a large courtyard, which was surrounded with temples built of red sandstone. These temples would be first class wonders anywhere else, but anxious to see the "pearl of the orient" I started up the steps and through the great red doorway, only to stop in amazement at the inner doorway at my first view of the Taj Mahal. The moonlight struck full on its pearly dome and threw into violent relief the slim minarets at its corners. In front was the water in the form of fountains, giving forth its own reflections of the beautiful marble masterpiece, and all around the somber, dense tropical foliage for a setting.

The harmony of the proportions makes the Taj Mahal look small. Yet it took 20,000 workmen twenty years to complete it, and it cost about $10,000,000. Standing in its superb doorway I found it would take seven men placed one upon the other to reach the top of this doorway. There are no windows—only marvelous screens cut in the forms of intertwining vines and flowers and out of immense marble slabs. Even in the center, where the great sarcophagi lie in which the builder and his wife are resting, the decorations are of marble inlaid with precious stones. The inscriptions are of black marble inlaid on white. And the moonlight obliterated the grain and the seams in the marble with its sheen, and it was as though this monument to a faithful wife was one piece of dazzling whiteness.

Though centuries have passed its perfection is as grand at this time as when first built. Even under the sunlight the next day, when it was not so much a thing ethereal, no signs of decay were apparent. It seems that this tribute of the goodness of a great Indian monarch to his loving wife will stand for ages, telling how one Hindoo had been faithful to his love and had raised her up to a pedestal above him in a country where womankind is but a slave.—Indianapolis News.

STREET SIGNS IN MOSCOW.

Painted Reproductions of the Goods Sold Within the Shops.

There is one custom in St. Petersburg, holding all over Russia, so droll that all foreigners laugh at it. The shopholders have huge signs over the miserable peepholes they call windows, and these signs are painted with the reproduction of the wares that are in the shops. This was formerly a great convenience to those who could not read, and even at the present day was not too much ridiculed by myself.

One would get along famously in Russia could he read the jaw breaking tongue, but the letters in some fronts and street corners look like the signs of the zodiac to the average foreigner and do not mean as much. If one could read and form an idea of syllables, the veriest idiot would have a passable knowledge of sufficient traveling Russia in a month. But the language bars you out and bowls you over, because perforce you do not know the fifty-two letters that resemble tripods and crescents and scarfpins and inverted r's and other things. So the signs do very well.

For example, a dairy will have a demonstration on each side of the door, where a cow will stand, flanked by a couple of tubs of butter and leaning against a background of cheeses, while glasses of foaming milk stand temptingly round. I was going to say that a pile of eggs was another feature, but never unless the hen who is responsible for them is portrayed loudly clucking over their freshness. In spite of this, I never ate a fresh egg in St. Petersburg. A fur shop will have a most fascinating array of fur lined garments and sealskin coats painted on its doors that will almost tear you out of your droshky, and the fruit stores riot with every color in the rainbow and exhibit likenesses of fruits that have never grown in Russia or anywhere else. And peaches, by the way, and nectarines of good, sweet growth are about 50 cents apiece here.

The signs lend great color and gayety to the streets, although you really never care to buy anything. The goods are all very mussy and cheap, and the famous Russian silver not nearly so artistic nor so handsome as our own. In leather and in marble this northern people excel the world.—Chicago Chronicle.

A Correction.

The Intelligent Foreigner—In your president's cabinet the secretary of the navy is subordinate to the secretary of war, is he not?

"By no means. He is of equal authority."

"How is that? When you have your navy takes part is it, does it not?"

"Yes."

"And the secretary of war cannot direct its movements?"

"Not at all. He looks after the land forces."

"Ah, I see. You have really no secretary of war. You have a secretary of the navy and a secretary of the army."—Chicago Tribune.

Women In Street Cars.

One way in which women show a self conscious timidity which calls upon them many uncomplimentary remarks is in finding a seat. A woman enters a closed car, grabs the first strap at hand and does not look around or move until in case of a crowd she is pushed along. Frequently one or two women will stand in one end of a car, with two or three seats vacant in the other, and unless some one takes the trouble to tell them or a courteous man gives up his seat at the lower end to take a vacant one at the other they continue to stand. Often a man will look up from his paper, see the woman standing before him, look up to the other end of the car with the vacant seats and then back to his paper again with a disgusted air which says plainly:

"Well, if that woman doesn't know enough to take a seat when it is vacant she will not get one from me."

It is annoying to travel in the street cars and be hustled and jostled by all classes of people, but as long as the larger proportions of the women are obliged to do it they had better face the necessity with all the good sense they can muster.—New York Times.

Monotonous Voice Tones.

In everyday life most persons use one note in speaking. It is very irritating, just as annoying as would be the use of one note on a piano. No matter how beautiful the tone, the incessant employment of one note in the scale is unendurable. The brain shrinks from all monotony. If you listen to voices that are otherwise beautiful and catch the one note tone, you will be affected just as you would be listening to a musical instrument that gives sound in one note. Its beauty of tone does not save it from condemnation. The habits of life lead persons to the use of a monotonous pitch. Now couple the high pitch that drives many a member of the household out of the home in search of relief through pleasures obtained elsewhere.—Good Housekeeping.

Dodging the Torture.

Jones—Why haven't you been around? You've been promising to call for more than a year. Come, now, say when you will come.

Johnson—Fact is I'm so busy that I can't say when—

Jones—Nonsense! By the way, my daughter is going to take piano lessons; going to begin next week.

Johnson—I'll call tonight.—Boston Transcript.

"TOILER, CANST THOU DREAM?"

Toiler, canst thou dream
At the seam, at the plow?
Higher heritage than kings
Hast thou.

Canst thou read in star or weed,
Answer to thy heart's deep cry?
Gold nor gem nor love's own crown
So satisfy.

Toiler, canst thou wait,
Through the storm black hour, slate,
Ruler of thy recreant will,
Dominant of fate?

Toiler, canst thou trust?
From the dust stand and tall,
Though the tears come streaming, all—
All is well!

THE VALUE OF PAIN.

It Calls Attention to the Fact That Disease Exists.

Pain is not disease; it is a symptom calling attention to the fact that disease exists. We do not remove the disease by stopping the pain.

Headaches usually arise from disturbances in digestion, due to overeating, eating freely of soft foods, too much of a variety at meals, etc. Fermentation and decay of the foods with the formation of poisons and irritants result. The danger is reported at headquarters. The thing to do is to heed the voice of the faithful sentinel, assist nature to get rid of the impurities generated, either by washing out the stomach, drinking freely of water, fasting for a day, by vigorous exercise or eliminative baths. Recognize in the pain the voice of a friend calling attention to the fact that we have done wrong and resolve never to violate the laws of health on this point again. In a day or so the transgressor would feel well and would be able to keep from getting into the same or a worse condition by avoiding the causes.

This is not the way these symptoms are usually treated. Pain is looked upon as an enemy, not as the voice of a friend. The sick one goes to a physician and demands something that will stupefy or paralyze the nerves—the pain must stop at once. He is given an opiate; the pain stops; the food still keeps on decaying in the stomach; he imagines he is well. The disease still exists; the symptom alone has been removed. The faithful sentinel has been knocked down. The means of telegraphic communication to headquarters have been severed. The enemy has his own way and is able to go ahead undisturbed in his destructive work. The watchers are asleep under an anæsthetic or opiate. The enemy enters the camp. Poisons that are generated in the stomach through errors in diet overwork and irritate the liver, the lungs and kidneys, through which they are eliminated, and finally result in Bright's disease, or the lungs, being weakened, are not able to resist the germs of disease that are inhaled. He falls a victim to tuberculosis and is now in a serious, if not an incurable, condition.

The only safe way is to study the human body and become familiar with the laws upon which health, happiness and life depend. Prevent pains, woe and sickness by avoiding their causes.—Life and Health.

A Lesson in Economy.

"Just charge it to me," said a man who had left an order with a merchant.

"No," said the merchant; "for your sake as well as for my own sake I will not give you credit. You are honest at heart and work hard all the time and intend to pay, but you have a habit of buying on credit and buy too much and cannot pay your bills. It would be a godsend to you if every one refused you credit. You are in debt up to your eyes, although your next door neighbor, whose salary is not as large as yours, has money in the bank simply because he refuses to buy things until he can pay for them in cash. I mean this kindly. Stop and reflect over the matter carefully."—Atchison Globe.

The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 21.

ARGUMENTS CONCLUDED IN THE WILCOX CASE.

Judge Jones Will Charge the Jury To-day—Feeling Against E. F Aydlett of Counsel for the Defence.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., March 20—Solicitor George Ward spoke for the State this morning at the trial of James Wilcox, charged with the murder of Nellie Cropsey. He contended that the evidence of the doctors against drowning was conclusive. He reviewed the testimony of the medical men and asserted that the girl was murdered and that Wilcox was guilty as charged. He said Wilcox had grown bitter at the repulses he had received from Miss Cropsey and that he had determined to win her back or kill her.

The argument was closed by E. F. Aydlett, counsel for the defence. He reviewed the entire evidence in detail. Among other things he said:

"The Cropseys have my sympathy. I have before extended it from my own lips. I do not blame Mr. Cropsey for trying to find out the cause of the death of his girl. But let us look into the evidence in this case. The people of North Carolina want honest verdicts. The doctors say that there are three tests of drowning and that they do not apply in cases where the body had been dead over four or five weeks. The doctors in this case admit that they did not examine the windpipe and other tubes to the lungs This is where one of the symptoms are found. The water could have left the lungs and stomach by natural processes in the course of thirty-seven days. There is no evidence that the girl was not drowned. He declared there was proof that the girl was drowned. If, however, she was killed, he contended that the defendant had nothing to do with it. He had neither the motive nor the opportunity.

The court house was full of people this afternoon, but soon after Mr. Aydlett began there was quite an exodus from the aisles. There is some feeling against him on account of his activity in behalf of the defendant.

Judge Jones will charge the jury to-morrow.

FIERCE FIRE IN NEW YORK.

Hardman, Peck & Co.'s Piano Plant Destroyed—Two Men Injured—Loss Estimated at $300,000.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Hardman, Peck & Co., piano manufacturers, suffered a loss of $300 000, or possibly more, by the destruction to night by fire of their plant, located at West Forty-eighth street and the North river.

The fire started from some unknown cause in the packing room, which is in the three-story part of the big factory. There it quickly spread throughout the entire building. The roof of the building fell in soon after, and gave rise to a report that there had been an explosion.

Just west of the three-story building, which was about 100 feet in length, and right on the river front stood a frame stable. On the roof of this were a number of firemen. When the walls fell a lot of debris fell on the roof of the stable injuring one fireman and one spectator.

From the first mentioned building the fire got into the firm's five-story structure and wrecked the upper portion of it. The loss was large because of the valuable machinery and woods in the burned buildings.

RACE TROUBLE IN KENTUCKY.

Fight Between Negroes and White Men. Two Negroes Killed — Others Were Injured.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PADUCAH, KY., March 20.—Great excitement prevails at Madrid Bend, Ky., forty miles below Hickman, on the Tennessee line. Two negroes were killed by white men and three were horribly and probably fatally beaten. Elijah Drake, colored, it is said, was caught stealing chickens and was lynched by enraged whites, being driven to the Mississippi river and shot dead. The body floated to the shore and the white men made another negro tie a rope around the body and pull it out to deep water.

The white men then attacked four other negroes living in the neighborhood, who, it is claimed, were implicated. The negroes showed fight and in the melee that followed Jim Stewart, a negro, was shot and killed. The other three negroes, whose names are not known, were then almost beaten to death. There is fear of further trouble and the law abiding citizens have asked the governor to offer a reward for the apprehension and punishment of the murderers.

MILES CRITICISES WAR DEPARTMENT

And Its Bill for the Authorization of a General Staff for the Army.

SAYS THAT HE WILL RESIGN.

Should Measure Become a Law It Will Destroy the Unity of the Army—Its Object to Promote Interests of Personal Favorites.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—General Nelson A. Miles told the Senate Committee on Military Affairs that if the bill introduced by Senator Hawley at the instance of the War Department for the organization of a general staff for the army should become a law he would decline to longer hold his commission. The reason he gave for the statement is that the bill is utterly subversive of the interests of the military establishment, and he said that he would not be a party to such a proceeding to the extent even of continuing to hold his place.

The statement was made in the course of a prolonged hearing by the committee, which was conducted behind closed doors and in which General Miles touched upon a variety of subjects connected with the army. The portion of the bill to which he directed his especial criticism is that contained in Section 7, reading as follows:

"That from and after the passage of this act the senior general officer of the army shall be assigned to command such portion of the army as the President may direct, or be detailed to duty in the general staff corps. All duties prescribed by law for the commanding general of the army shall be performed by the chief of the general staff or other general officer designated by the Secretary of War. Provided, that so long as the present lieutenant general of the army continues on the active list he shall be the chief of the general staff, and upon the separation from active service of the said lieutenant general of the army the said office, except as herein provided, shall cease and determine."

Destroy Army's Unity.

General Miles said that if this provision should become a law it would have the effect of destroying the unity of the army and he read numerous authorities, including Napoleon, Wellington, Washington, Cass and Grant to show the necessity of having one head to the army and of controlling authority. His own experience and observation had, he said, had the effect of confirming these views and he gave an illustration of its beneficial effect in time of emergency, instancing the beginning of the war with Spain. "I heard at midnight," he said, "that the Spanish fleet had been located definitely at Santiago and I hastened to the home of Secretary Long, where the news was confirmed. Shafter was then at Tampa, and I sat down there, in the secretary's house, and wrote a dispatch directing him to start immediately for Santiago, with the result that the army was soon on its way to the point where its presence was needed. Suppose," he added, exhibiting the message which he had sent to General Shafter, "I had been compelled to get around to a dozen or more majors, as many colonels and any number of generals constituting a general staff."

To Promote Personal Favorites.

Then he added, that in all probability the senior general of the army would not under the provision he had quoted, have been in position to do anything, and he called attention to the clause relieving him (the senior general) of command and making it possible for any other officer to be appointed. He declared that under Section 7, it would be competent to one day promote a captain to the position of a brigadier and the next day make him chief of staff, thus practically placing a captain at the head of the army. Warming up somewhat, he asserted that the bill was calculated to accomplish no purpose except to allow the Secretary of War and the adjutant general to promote the interests of their personal favorites.

General Miles was questioned as to the reasons for locating the American army of occupation at Tampa and holding it there so long with the resulting congestion. Replying to the first question, he said that it was because of the order to occupy Havana. The delay was due, he said, to the fact that the American army was supplied with only sixty-four rounds of ammunition, which would not have been sufficient for more than half an hour of fighting. Considering that Havana was one of the best fortified cities in the world, he said that to have attacked it would have been foolhardy in the extreme. He refused, however, to criticise the then Secretary of War, General Alger, for the condition of affairs, saying that probably any one else in the position would have done about what he did. He laid the general blame for this condition of unpreparedness at the door of Congress.

In the course of his remarks General Miles told the committee in confidence that with the bill a law he could now name the men who would hold the places of honor provided under it, but the committee did not ask for the names.

Miles May be Disciplined

The news of General Miles' statements to-day before the military committee of the Senate excited great interest at the War Department when it became known there late in the day. There was a very general inquiry as to whether by passing the criticisms upon various officials, as reported in the press, General Miles had not exposed himself to disciplinary treatment. The answer to this must be based on the exact amount of privilege which attaches to testimony given before a committee of Congress. The question arose last week in the course of General Hughes' testimony before the Senate Philippine committee, when the general sought to escape answering questions which would involve criticism by him of his superior officer, General Otis. It appeared that there was a variance of opinion in the committee itself, as to how far General Hughes was at liberty to violate army rules and proprieties, even in answer to committee questions and the question itself was left unsettled.

While General Miles did not expect when he gave in his testimony that it would be made public in any form, he is now willing that it shall be published by the committee, making himself the broad statement that the statements which were given to the press, as those made by himself before the committee, were misrepresentations; totally unwarranted and unauthorized.

Secretary Root exhibited little feeling when his attention was called to the proceedings before the committee. He remarked quietly that he was very sorry Lieutenant General Miles opposed this bill. He pointed out that under Section 7, of which General Miles complained the Lieutenant General would have greatly enlarged powers in army management instead of being restricted in his functions, as he supposed. As to the question whether General Miles had said anything which would require action at the hands of the department or the President, the secretary firmly declined to express any opinion, for the present at least, preferring to await an official copy of the committee hearing before reaching any decision.

TO BE TRIED FOR HERESY.

Rev. Granville Louther, D. D., Charged With Disseminating Doctrines in Violation of Faith of M. E. Church.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MCPHERSON, KAS., March 20.—Rev. Granville Louther, D. D., pastor of a local church, was served with papers at a Methodist Episcopal conference here to-day, charging him with heresy and setting forth that he would be tried at Arkansas City, Kas., March 26th. Rev. Mr. Louther is charged with being guilty "of disseminating doctrines contrary to and subversive of the doctrines of the Methodist Episcopal Church," and it is alleged that he is "atheistic and evolutionistic."

Mr. Louther is charged with making and teaching the following doctrines, which are set down as in violation of the Confession of Faith and the Catechism.

"That the serpent who talked to Eve was a man, one of the race to which she and Adam belonged; that he had not come into a consciousness of God; therefore, was classed with the beasts, and that there were other inhabitants or members of the race; if not, how did Cain find his wife in the land of Nod, where none of Adam's children except Cain had gone? If not, whence came the 'daughters of men' whom the 'sons of God' took for their wives? The reasonable interpretation is that the descendants of Adam were called 'sons of God' because having entered into a conscious knowledge of God, they would claim him as their creator and worship him. The others, not knowing God, were called 'sons and duaghters of men.'

"That Adam and Eve as first created had no perception of their obligations of obedience; that in eating of the fruit of the tree of good and evil they had done nothing except what others about them were doing, and what they themselves had formerly done; that is live like beasts, but they had a higher vision of spiritual things than formerly and consequently they felt guilt.

"That Christ died for men to show man how to die for man; that this willingness to die for man should be multiplied by exactly the number of disciples of Christ, and that the atonement can never be completed until this idea prevails."

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Grand Jubilee of the Order in Chicago Fifty Thousand Members in Attendance--Programme of Exercises.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, March 20.—Knighthood flowered in Chicago to-day with all the pomp and panoply that mark the brotherhood of chivalry and secret vows. It was the day that had been set apart as one of jubilee for all Knights of Pythias in the Supreme domain, and 50,000 members of the order were in attendance.

All supreme and grand officers who had been able to reach town in time were entertained at luncheon by Grand Chancellor Chase E. Cushman, in the Grand Central Hotel. This evening there was a parade of many lodges, the marching route lying between the Masonic Temple and the Coliseum.

The formal programme of exercises at the Coliseum to-night began with the ritualistic bestowal of new honors upon the candidate of the Milwaukee Lodge team, Governor Lafollette, who was escorted into the crowded hall amid cheers. These rites were followed by music from the band and a quartette and addresses by R. L. C. White, supreme keeper of records and seals, of Nashville, Tenn.; Major General James R. Carnahan, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Judge D. C. Richardson, of Richmond, Va., and James A. Reed, of Kansas City, Mo. The spectacle lasted far into the night.

BOERS WELL SUPPLIED

Have Guns and Ammunition and Abundance of Stock

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, March 20.—A dispatch to the Times from Klerksdorp, Transvaal Colony, says that the Boers in the western Transvaal are well supplied with guns and ammunition, and have unlimited support and a large amount of stock; that their numbers give them confidence, while the block house system has not yet been extended enough to alarm them.

What is possible has been done, continues the correspondent, but owing to the insufficiency of troops, the British columns have been too small to cope adequately with the Boer forces, which are all composed of fighting men without any intention of surrendering.

WAR REVENUE ACT.

Report of Committee On the Bill Repealing the Measure.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, March 20 —Senator Aldrich, from the Finance Committee, to-day presented to the Senate the report of that committee on the bill repealing the war revenue act and thus made public for the first time the amendments to the bill suggested by the committee. There are many changes in the language of the bill, but except in one instance the intention of the House bill of repealing the entire act is respected. The exception is the provision in the existing law providing for the taxation of "bucket-shops," which provision is left intact and the tax continued in effect.

PETITIONS FOR INJUNCTION

Against Railway Companies Charged With Violating Interstate Commerce Law.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, March 20.—Petitions for injunctions were filed here to-day in the United States Circuit Court by United States District Attorney S. H. Bethea against six of the railway companies centering in Chicago, charging them with infractions of the interstate commerce law in regard to rate cutting. In substance the complaints are the same as those filed at Kansas City. The defendants are the Michigan Central, Illinois Central, Pennsylvania, Pittsburg, Cincinnati and St. Louis, Lake Shore and the Chicago and Northwestern roads.

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL DEBATED.

Appropriation of $250,000 for the Cape Fear River Above Wilmington Defeated.

MR. BELLAMY'S AMENDMENT.

Proposed Investigation of Southern Election Laws Deprecated as an Attempt to Revive Sectional Strife and Ill Feeling—The Senate.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The House to-day made very slow progress on the River and Harbor bill, disposing of only thirty pages and leaving fifty pages still to be considered. The River and Harbor Committee again to-day succeeded in defeating every amendment offered.

The amendment of Mr. Bellamy, North Carolina, to appropriate $350,000 for the Cape Fear river above Wilmington, was among those voted down.

In the course of his remarks upon the amendment Mr. Bellamy referred briefly to the prospective investigation of Southern election laws. He deprecated it as an attempt to revive sectional strife and ill feeling. The South, he said, had reached a solution of its difficulties after many years, when this proposition was advanced which would undo all that had been accomplished toward establishing peace and prosperity.

The South, he said, was sick and tired of sectional strife. Her people loved the Union and were proud of its honor and achievements. He asserted that for sinister purposes some members on the other side were again sowing the seeds of discord, and he appealed to the conservative, fair-minded men of the Republican party to vote down a proposition fraught with so much evil to the South.

Mr. Candler, Mississippi, made a fervent but unsuccessful appeal for the improvement of the Tombigbee, in his State. His speech established him as a not unworthy successor of "private" John Allen, who long enjoyed the reputation of the "wit of the House."

Senate Proceedings.

Throughout to-day's session of the Senate the bill providing for the protection of the President of the United States was under discussion. Just before adjournment an agreement was reached to vote on the measure and pending amendments at 4 o'clock to-morrow. The speakers to-day were Messrs. Petitus of Alabama, Hawley of Connecticut and Nelson of Minnesota, in support of the bill, and Messrs. Rawlins of Utah, McCumber of North Dakota, Mallory of Florida, Carmack of Tennessee, and Money and McLaurin of Mississippi, in opposition to it. The speeches in the main were a reinforcement of arguments that have been advanced heretofore, a few new points being raised. The principal point made by the opponents of the measure was that Federal officials ought to be treated in the courts precisely as are other citizens.

Three substitutes for the bill are pending and will be pressed when the voting begins to morrow.

AMERICAN TOBACCO CO.

Its Offer in Reply to the Imperial Tobacco Company of London the Sensation of the Day.

By Cable to the Morning Star

LONDON, March 20.—Ogdens, (limited) as the local representative of the American Tobacco Company, to-day gave notice of their intention to give their entire net profit and £200,000 yearly for the next four years as a bonus to their customers.

This is the American reply to the Imperial Tobacco Company's attempt to boycott American goods. In a circular, Ogdens (limited) point out that the Imperial Tobacco Company's offer to distribute a bonus amounting to £50,000 cannot be compared with the bonus the retailers will receive if they continue to trade with the American amalgamation. The American Tobacco Company's bonus scheme is the sensation of the day in the tobacco world of Great Britain. "Unparalleled," "stupendous," "amazing" are a few of the adjectives applied to this bombshell. The anti-monopoly role assumed by the American side has brought them the adherence of a number of influential retailers who were opposed to the Imperial Tobacco Company's boycott and, already, one firm, owning many stores in the metropolis, has posted notices of its refusal to exclude American goods, and of its intention to discontinue selling imperial brands.

Ogdens (limited) to-day sent out 10,000 telegrams from their Liverpool headquarters, carrying the announcement of their offer to every tobacco tradesman in England. The fact that Ogdens business in 1900 amounted to nearly £966,000 indicates the enormous sum they are expected to expend in bonuses.

The London tobacconists immediately called a meeting for to-morrow to consider their future action.

As cabled to the Associated Press from London, March 18th, the Imperial Tobacco Company (the British tobacco combination) had issued a circular offering large bonuses to its customers who would undertake not to sell American goods for a term of years.

Mr. Walters, the chairman of Ogdens (limited), says that J. B. Duke, the head of the American Tobacco combination, is not responsible for the circular, which was issued solely by the directorate of Ogdens (limited).

REFORM SCHOOL BURNED.

State Institution at Lexington, Ky., Destroyed—All the Inmates Saved. Building Set On Fire.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LEXINGTON, KY., March 20.—The Bradley dormitory at the State School of Reform, near this city, was destroyed by fire late last night, but all the inmates, numbering 125 boys, all white, were saved. The loss was $25,000; two-thirds insured.

Two boys, inmates of the school, are missing and it is believed they escaped during the fire. The management of the institution became convinced that the building was set on fire by the boys, who had planned to escape, but that the prompt action of the night watchman in turning in the alarm frustrated the plan.

Superintendent Doak will not say that the fire was incendiary, because complete investigation has not been made; but W. P. Walton, one of the board of directors, says he has information that will lead to arrests.

SENSATION IN BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Chamberlain Denounced as a Damned Liar by John Dillon, Irish Nationalist, During Discussion on South Africa.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, March 20.—One of the liveliest scenes witnessed in the House of Commons since the palmiest days of the Irish Nationalists, ended this afternoon with the suspension of John Dillon. During the discussion of the South African affairs, the Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, vigorously protested against the government's conduct in uttering "malignant slanders" in calling the Liberals pro-Boers." These slanders, Sir Henry said, were used for party purposes The government which had been going from blunder to blunder, claimed immunity from criticism and if this continued it would follow "the precedent of the evil days of the American war." The speaker proceeded to give a bitter detailed criticism of the government's treatment of the Boers and its miscalculations, declaring that the honor and interests of the country were just as dear to the Liberals as to the most superstitious defender of the government's policy and the Liberals would continue to protest in the name of the righteous and generous traditions of the nation against the methods of the government.

The colonial secretary, Mr. Chamberlain, in the course of an equally incisive reply, said he desired to deliberately accuse Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman of losing no opportunity for slandering his countrymen, the soldiers and the government Consequently, the "malignant slanders" had come from the opposition side.

The Speaker, Sir William Courtgully, here intervened and declared that the term "malignant slander" was unparliamentary.

Both Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman and Mr. Chamberlain thereupon withdrew the words amid cheers.

Mr. Chamberlain, proceeding, referred to the Boers who are fighting on the British side, when John Dillon (Irish Nationalist) interjected, "they are traitors," on which Mr. Chamberlain retorted, "The honorable gentleman is a good judge of traitors."

A scene of great confusion ensued. When order was partially restored, Mr. Dillon demanded a ruling on Mr. Chamberlain's words.

The Speaker said: "An honorable member spoke of soldiers serving under the British flag as traitors. I deprecated the interruption, and I deprecated the retort of the other member."

Mr. Dillon then said: "I will tell the right honorable member that he is a damned liar."

A dead silence followed this remark. Such unparliamentary language seemed to stun the House. The Speaker invited Mr. Dillon to withdraw the expression, but the latter said: "I will not withdraw."

"Then I must name you," said the Speaker.

The government leader, A. J. Balfour, then said, "I beg to move that Mr. Dillon be suspended from the service in the House" The motion was carried by 248 to 48 votes. Mr. Dillon immediately, by direction of the Speaker, left the House amid wild Nationalist cheers, and Mr. Chamberlain resumed his speech.

Mr. Dillon's suspension, under the present rules, cannot exceed a week. His offence would have been much more severely dealt with had the new rules been in force.

The ejection of Mr. Dillon did not serve to clear the atmosphere and the remainder of the debate was filled with personal allusions and unpleasant charges, the nature of which would have excited comment had they not been discounted by the first explosion.

REVOLUTION IN VENEZUELA.

Great Activity of Insurgent Troops—Several Towns Attacked — Situation Critical for President Castro.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

WILLEMSTAD, ISLAND OF CURACOA, March 20.—The Venezuelan revolution, headed by General Matos, seems to be taking form. Eight hundred revolutionists under General Penaloza are besieging Carupano (a seaport town in the State of Bermuda) and the revolutionists under General Monamas have surrounded Barcelona, the capital of the State of Bermudez Gen. Riera, who escaped the pursuit of the Venezuelan government troops near Cumarebo, in the State of Falcon, is marching in the direction of Tucacas, a seaport town in the State of Lara, which place is to be attacked on land by his troops and from the sea by the revolutionary steamer Bolivar, also known as the Libertador.

The Venezuelan government is sending troops to El Hacha to intercept General Riera and prevent the junction of his troops with the revolutionists in the Barquisimeto district.

The revolutionists have cut the cable to Barcelona and, consequently, the Venezuelan government is without news from Carupano. The situation is said to be critical for President Castro.

The Venezuelan fleet is not in a condition to pursue the Bolivar and the plans of President Castro to capture her have failed.

Gen. Sturbe, the president of the State of Gunare, has been with his staff taken prisoner by the revolutionists.

A small fire in the Tombs prison at New York, yesterday, caused much excitement. The prisoners were marched into the court yard in the center of the prison and the police reserves of the Delancey street station were turned out Hose was run into the building and the flames were soon under control. No one was hurt.
